

Specchi, Swan, Dr. (University of Bologna, Italy)

Education

July 2007 - Doctor in Veterinary Medicine (DVM) with 104/110, University of Bologna, ITALY, Graduation Thesis: “Use of endoscopy for the diagnosis of nasal diseases in dog”, Veterinary

Clinical Departement, University of Bologna.

May 2011 - Philosophy Doctor (PhD), University of Bologna, Italy, May 2011. Thesis on “Evaluation of feline small bowel with contrast enhancement ultrasound”.

September 2014 - Diplomate at the America Collage of Veterinary Radiology (DACVR).

Professional Activities

January 2006-July 2007 - Student Work Experience: full time volunteer at the Diagnostic Imaging Section of the Veterinary Clinical Department, University of Bologna, Italy.

January 2007-December 2010 - Position as PhD Student (Diagnostic Imaging), University of Bologna, Italy.

May 2011 - Discussed PhD final thesis “Evaluation of feline small bowel with contrast enhancement ultrasound”.

January 2011 - June 2011 - Diagnostic Imaging Service of the Istituto Veterinario Novara under the guide of Dr. Edoardo Auriemma (ECVDI Diplomate).

July 2011 - July 2014 - Resident American College of Veterinary Radiology at the Diagnostic Imaging Service of the Université de Montréal.

September 2011 - December 2013 - Remote consultant (MRI low field VetMR, Esaote, CT single slice), for Palermovet Veterinary Clinic.

Teaching Activities

2007-2008 - Internal Medicine, Academic, University of Bologna, Italy.

2008-2009 - Radiographic and Tomographic Anatomy, Academic, University of Bologna, Italy.

2011 till now - Last year students formation (radiology and ultrasound) at the Diagnostic Imaging Service of the Université de Montréal, .